shower after services. Everyone is excited about this upcoming little one and the old school approach of finding out the gender of the baby when it scrunches up its eyes and gives its first wave.

So, it is going to be busy. Let me remind you of a Scripture that quiets my mind when it starts racing, with all the racing thoughts that go on when pressures arise.

Delight yourself also in the Lord, and He shall give you the desires of your heart. Commit your way to the Lord, trust also in Him, and He shall bring it to pass ... Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for Him.—Psalm 37:4,7

I don't think of this Scripture in a "health and wealth" context. While I am wonderfully blessed, this is not indicating that God is going to "buy me things." But as I prepare to serve in some different ways in the next few weeks, God will open the door for things to happen. He will make a success out of whatever efforts are put forth to bring him honor. I need to rest in the comfort of that thought.

*Grace and Peace,
Carl*

Where belonging to God means belonging to each other.

My past few weeks have been filled with trying to collect Bible class material for my college classes for the Black Hills and address some "summer time" issues that seem to arise every year.

The next week will be hectic as we get ready to pull out for a week of camp. I know it will all come together but sometimes I am in the dark as to how we will pull it off. The initial figures indicate this will be our largest session of camp, probably maxing out the "kids" camps.

Tom and Pam have just completed involvement with their summer camp series. Tom's background work is invaluable for Silver Maple Camp. Pam spent this last week as one of the cooks. Anyone involved with camp recognizes what a huge job that is.

Tom is planning to fill the pulpit for me the next two weeks as I will be travelling. I plan to be preaching for the Northern Hills church next Sunday.

Today, we are celebrating the imminent arrival of Ben and Baylee's little one with a
